DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

1. Claim 1, 9-10 and 21 are allowed.

5 Claim 1 is limited to a method for facilitating message delivery and conferencing within a communications system having multiple communications channels using multiple media types. By its instant amendment, Applicant has amended this claim to further require the following, inter alia:

- 10 “identifying an identity of the receiving party, an identity of the sending party, a receiving party address, and a sending party address from the first initiated communications link;
- classifying a message from the sending party sent via said first initiated communications link into one of said categories;
- 15 determining and retrieving contextually relevant reception state data from said registered plurality of reception states according to the identity of the receiving party, the identity of the sending party, said receiving party address, said sending party address, the category of the message of the sending party, a time of said first initiated communications link, and the communications channel over which said first initiated communications link is to be established.”
- 20 To the contrary, the combination of O'Neal, Adams, Batten and Fitzpatrick, see Final Rejection at 2-10, 04 August 2008, does not include identifying the identity of the receiving party, the identity of the sending party, the receiving party address and the sending party address and using that data to determine and retrieve contextually relevant reception state data. Instead, the combination of prior art only uses sending party and
- 25 receiving party addresses. At most, the cited prior art uses the addresses to “identity” the sending and receiving parties, but the prior art does not use addresses and identities as discrete data. Thus, claim 1 is allowable over the cited prior art.

Claims 9-10 and 21 depend from claim 1 and are allowable over the cited prior art for at least the same reasons.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
